What Do We Accept?

Due to our COVID-19 Safety and Wellness policy, the Karsh Center will only accept new, unused donations of the following types of items:

- Nonperishable food items
  - Especially: rice, pasta, canned fruits or vegetables, canned or pouched tuna or chicken
- Diapers (must be in a sealed, unopened package)
  - Especially: Size 5 and up
- Baby formula
- Baby wipes
- Baby clothes (new, with tags on)
- Travel-size hygiene supplies
  - For an at-home project, consider making hygiene kits, with one of every item below included in a clear ziploc-style gallon bag
    - Shampoo/conditioner, toothbrush, toothpaste, soap (liquid body wash preferred), deodorant, hand sanitizer, pair of socks, tampons or sanitary napkins, sunscreen
- Household cleaning supplies
  - All-purpose cleaning spray
  - Paper towels (in sealed packaging)
  - Toilet paper (in sealed packaging)
  - Dish soap
  - Hand sanitizer
  - Disposable masks (in sealed packaging)

Please note we cannot accept any previously used (no matter how gently) baby toys, clothes or other children's items (ex: high chairs, strollers, cribs etc).

Looking for Alternatives?

If you are looking to donate items that we are unable to accept, we are happy to provide recommendations to some of our wonderful Collaborator organizations who also accept in-kind donations.

- The People Concern: https://www.thepeopleconcern.org/give/
- National Council of Jewish Women: https://www.ncjwla.org/what-we-take/

Please reach out to rachel-ann@karshcenter.org for recommendations of other great organizations.
